

16th ANNUAL ROCKY MOUNTAIN REPRODUCTIVE SCIENCES SYMPOSIUM
ABSTRACT SUBMISSIONS DUE APRIL 19th
REGISTRATION CLOSSES APRIL 26th

2024 CONFERENCE THEME:

Reproductive Health and Assisted Reproductive Technologies

MAY 3, 2024 | CSU'S LORY STUDENT
9:00 A.M.– 4:45 P.M. | CENTER THEATER

Now in its 16th year, the Rocky Mountain Reproductive Sciences Symposium brings together a diverse group of scientists to discuss advances in human and animal reproduction. Hosted by Colorado State University's Animal Reproduction and Biotechnology Laboratory, the day's events feature abstract presentations, poster sessions, and keynotes by two leaders in the field of reproductive physiology. This event brings a "bench-to-bedside" thematic focus, with the aim of fostering interaction between basic scientists, physician-scientists and clinicians.

Keynote Speakers:

CLINICAL SCIENCE:

"The Modern IVF Laboratory: Technologies to Improve Human ART"

-Jason Swain, PhD, HCLD

Chief Laboratory Officer & President of Lab Operations,
CCRM Fertility

BASIC SCIENCE:

"Stem cell-based fertility restoration and protection"

-Ayman Al-Hendy, MD, PhD

Professor, Gynecologist, and Minimally-Invasive Surgeon at University of Chicago and University of Chicago Medicine,
71st President of the Society for Reproductive Investigation
